LOVERDALE MAY GET AID FOR SEWER

SYSTEM IS LISTED AS ONE OF THE FAVORABLE PROJECTS
FOR WPA AID IN STATE

TOTAL COST TOTAL OF $66,641

New Sewer System With Its Recently Completed Water System Will Make Town Completely Modern

The request of the town board of Loverdale, backed by the favorable vote of taxpayers of the town, for a WPA grant to aid that municipality in building a sewer system, has been granted for approval at the head-quarters of the Indiana Works Progress Administration, it is announced. John K. Jennings, state administrator of that governmental agency, The Cloverdale project is one of a number which will be forwarded to Washington for final approval if they meet with state requirements.

The Cloverdale sewer project will receive federal aid to the extent of $641, if the proposition is approved.

The town board held an election of taxpayers April 4, to secure from them an expression of their wishes regarding the expenditure of $600 as the town's share of the total cost of building the sewer system. That amount, it was proposed, be raised by the sale of revenue bonds with the sewer system as security and no obligation, it is claimed, upon the property owners regarding the bonds.

Mrs. Lindbergh Arrives In N. Y.

TWENTY-FIVE POLICEMEN ACCOMPANY HER AND CHILDREN FROM LINER

NEW YORK, April 28.—(UP)—Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh and her children arrived today from England on the French Liner Champagne and came ashore with an escort of 75 policemen. A nurse carried the younger Lindbergh child, two years old and, Jon walked beside his mother down the gangplank to the freight level where an automobile with New Jersey license plates awaited them, presumably to take them to the estate of Mrs. Dwight Morrow, Mrs. Lindbergh's mother, at Englewood, N. J. Col. Lindbergh, on a tour of the army air service which has drafted him to active duty, is in Dayton, O.

The Champlain docked at 6 a. m. and Mrs. Lindbergh, the children and the nurse were the first passengers off. They went down the gangplank at 7:10 a. m. until then, the pier had been guarded and patrolled by no newspaper men aboard.

Photographers were permitted within 75 feet of Mrs. Lindbergh or her children.

Policemen completely surrounded the car until they reached the automobile, which left in the direction of Englewood.

Eden Joins The British Army

FORMER SECRETARY BECOMES ONE OF THE FIRST TO ENTER MILITARY SERVICE

LONDON, April 28.—(UP)—Anthony Eden, regarded as the country's coming "man in politics," joined the territorial army today as Great Britain answered Adolf Hitler's speech urging stimulating its preparedness program.

Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, after winning an overwhelming confidence vote in the House of Commons on his plan for conscription, announced today that he had introduced a compulsory military training bill in parliament Monday and force it through to enactment quickly.

War minister Leslie Hore-Belisha proceeded with plans to raise the strength of the regular army above the present authorized total of 224,000 men by voluntary enlistment.

Preparations were made to man anti-aircraft defenses throughout the country on a war-alert basis. Eden quietly joined the London Rangers regiment of territorials and was sent at once to Tidworth camp on Salisbury plain, the great British army depot, to take a "freshener" course.

Assigned the rank of major which he won in the World War, he retained command of a battalion on the ground that he was stale in his military knowledge, and he was made second in command.

Brig. Gen. Vladimir Kookianki

Moscow Fliers Enroute To U.S.

NAVIGATOR AND PILOT ON NON-STOP FLIGHT TO NEW YORK FOR WORLD FAIR

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, April 28.—(UP)—The Russian Moscow-to-New York airplane was sighted off the south coast of Iceland shortly after 8 a. m. today.

MOSCOW, April 28.—(UP)—Two Russian fliers sped across the North Atlantic attempting a non-stop, 4,600 mile flight from Moscow to New York. They encountered headwinds which cut their speed to slightly more than 140 miles an hour but reported that all was well aboard.

At 5:45 a. m. (EST) they reported by radio that they were crossing the zero meridian, a point almost half way between the coast of Norway and Iceland, and about 150 miles south of the Arctic circle. They had traveled 1,182 miles from Moscow.

The fliers, Brig. Gen. Vladimir Kookianki, pilot, and Maj. Mikhail Gordienko, navigator, carried a message of good will to the New York World's fair, and a letter to President Roosevelt from the Russian government.

Should they maintain the 150-mile speed, they would arrive in New York about 4:00 a. m. Saturday. Their course was the great circle route, over Sweden and Norway, the North Atlantic to Iceland, the southern tip of Greenland, Labrador and Newfoundland, New Brunswick, the coast of Maine, over Boston to Floyd Bennett Field, New York.

The plane is called "Moscow". Its wings and fuselage are red. The word Moscow is painted in white on the under surface of one wing, in Slavic characters which appear: "Mokkba". It is the same type of plane in which Kookianki flew last year from Moscow to Vladivostok 3,500 miles non-stop.

PUTNAM CO. MAY SEE ONE SUPER ROAD

PROPOSED TRANSCONTINENTAL HIGHWAY MAY BE NEAR NATIONAL ROAD

SIX ROADS PROPOSED

President Roosevelt Gave Hint Thursday Of Roads Across The Nation

Information from Washington concerning the proposal to build six transcontinental super-highways across the United States lack definite details concerning the proposed routes of these suggested roads, but three of them are expected to cross Indiana.

These three route across Indiana are designated as Nos. 2, 3 and 4, among the six proposed roads. Of these three, Nos. 2 and 3 would cross northern Indiana, but No. 4 would cross the central part of the state.

At Indianapolis, M. R. Keefe, chief engineer of the Indiana State Highway Commission, said engineers from the Federal Bureau of Roads made preliminary surveys about four months ago, but at that time the engineers working on the surveys did not know the purpose of their work.

The East-West route through central Indiana, at that time, was surveyed at another point and not along the National Road, he said.

The proposed "excess-taking" of land for right-of-way would be cheaper than the method of buying only the absolutely necessary land, Mr. Keefe said. Land holders are inclined to "boost the price" of small sections of their land, while an entire farm could be purchased at a smaller relative price, and then resold after the necessary right-of-way taken out.

Termite Control Subject Of Talk

PURDUE ENTOMOLOGIST GIVES ADDRESS AT KIWANIS LUNCHEON

"Termite Control" was the theme of an interesting talk presented before the Thursday luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis club in Gobin Memorial Methodist church by G. E. Lecker, Purdue university entomologist. The speaker said the termite is one of the ten most destructive pests in the state. "Several years ago the termite was unheard of, but since his former feeding grounds have been destroyed he has turned to the towns and cities for a livelihood.

"People are becoming termite conscious and daily turning to ways to control the pest. The termites, who live in colonies and in 'hive' like chambers in the ground away from buildings, start on a small scale when they begin feasting on a building, but the damage increases as they multiply. It is possible for a dozen colonies to operate around one house", Mr. Lecker said.

The entomologist pointed out the difference between a termite and a flying ant, saying the termite has a straight body, silver wings and that the wings drop off; the flying ant has a wasp-like body, transparent wings which remain attached to its body. He explained that the "swarm" termites do not do the damage, but when you see them you know there are "soldiers" and "workers" at work, and that it is time to take steps to eradicate the pests.

In reference to control, he said it is necessary to analyze the pests and apply treatment in accordance with results from the study. The approved methods for eliminating the termites, as presented by Mr. Lecker, follow: Reconstruction, removing all wood from soil, and thus breaking contact between house and termite colonies; pour concrete walls in basement and don't fill porch, add metal frames in basement windows and have full basement; metal termite shields over top of foundation walls to break connection of termites to the wooden section of the house; use of treated wood on top of foundation; use of soil treatment to break connection.

Crosley Shows New Automobile

ORIGINAL DEMONSTRATION MADE AT MOTOR SPEEDWAY. IS SMALL CAR

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 28.—(UP)—A radical innovation in automobile design made its official debut at the Indianapolis motor speedway today with the christening of the Crosley Corporation's "economy car."

Engineers claimed the tiny model to be an all-time economy champion, costing only $325 and obtaining up to 60 miles to the gallon of gasoline. The car is powered by a light two-cylinder airplane type motor and is said to be capable of speeds of 50 miles an hour.

The car has an over all length of only 120 inches but has inside space designed to accommodate even extraordinary tall persons with comfort. It is to be offered to the public in two models, a convertible coupe and a convertible four-passenger sedan, both at the same price with standard equipment.

Weighing only 925 pounds, the car carries what is estimated to be at least a 200 mile fuel supply in its four-gallon tank, while the crank case holds only two quarts of oil. Gear shift and steering arrangements are not essentially different from those of other makes.

The new model will be on display outside the Crosley exhibit building at the New York World's fair which opens Sunday. Cars will be demonstrated on a special track.

Probe Abduction By 'Tape' Bandits

LAFAYETTE MAN VICTIM OF INDIANA BAND; CAR STOLEN BY DESPERADOES

FRANKFORT, Ind., April 28.—(UP)—State police today investigated the abduction of Francis Reifenrath, 20, of Lafayette, who last night became a victim of Indiana's "tape bandits."

Reifenrath was accosted near his home in Lafayette, forced into his car at the point of a gun, and driven to an abandoned school house near Frankfort where the bandits tied his mouth, hands and feet and left him.

When they departed, they told him they would be back and warned him not to make any outcry. He had freed his hands from the tape bonds when the bandits appeared again.

They re-bound him, took his wallet, and escaped in his car. There was no money in the wallet, he said, and the bandits gave him 50 cents to return to Lafayette.

He said they told him not to report his abduction until he had returned to Lafayette, and then to tell the police that he had "got drunk and lost his car."

Reifenrath said that he worked for nearly an hour to free himself and then walked into Frankfort where he reported to police.

He told police that the men seized him about 8:30 p. m. and that he finally freed himself about midnight.

Strange Death Report Received

STATE CHEMIST FOUND NO ALCOHOL IN STOMACH OF FRED STRANGE

A preliminary report had been received today by Coroner Russell Shannon from Dr. R. N. Harger, professor of biochemistry and toxicology of Indiana University School of Medicine, concerning the analysis on the stomach of the late Fred Strange.

The report disclosed that there was no alcohol present in the stomach and contents and spleen of Fred Strange, also tests made for other poisons, including cyanide, phenols, chloral strychnine, arsenic and barbiturates showed none present. It must be considered, however, it was pointed out, that alcohol is rapidly absorbed from the stomach, and that some 18 hours had elapsed from the time the specimens examined were secured and the time the alcohol was presumably consumed.

A member of the family disclosed in a recent conversation, it was stated, that Mr. Strange had not been well for some time and had complained of a urinary and kidney disturbance, and that he had not sought medical attention for this condition. "It may well be assumed that a subacute or long standing chronic urinary disease existed and which was exacerbated by recent consumption of alcohol. Physical examination and the character of the coma existing before death as disclosed by examining physician was characteristic of uremia or toxemia due to impaired kidney function as well as marked alcoholic intoxication in the early stages. Police officials and those in custody of Mr. Strange were aware and advised that if only a state of intoxication existed improvement should be manifested not later than 12 to 14 hours after the state began. It was this condition that prompted them to remove the prisoner to the hospital," the coroner said.

Roosevelt Did Not Hear Hitler

SPEECH OF DICTATOR CAME TOO EARLY TODAY FOR PRESIDENT

HYDE PARK, N. Y., April 28.—(UP)—While Adolf Hitler addressed the German Reichstag and every man, woman and child in Germany, the man whose appeal for peace he was answering—President Roosevelt—was in his bed, sleeping.

Mr. Roosevelt regarded Hitler's speech, it was said authoritatively, as a speech only and in no sense an answer to the appeal he made to Hitler and Benito Mussolini on April 15. He anticipates a direct reply from both of them. Mussolini made a speech a week ago which many considered his reply, and today Hitler made his.

Persons familiar with diplomatic usages and courtesy, said that when the head of the state conveys a message in any form to the head of another, custom decrees a formal acknowledgement if not a reply. To date, Mr. Roosevelt had received not even an acknowledgement.

It was understood that he would read a text of Hitler's speech sometime during the day. Hitler began speaking soon after 6 a. m. and Mr. Roosevelt does not get up that early.

The White House secretariat announced last night that Mr. Roosevelt had completed the speech he will deliver in opening the New York World's fair on Sunday. This announcement strengthened the understanding that Hitler's speech would have no official interest for him. If he considered it a reply to his appeal, he could have used the World's Fair speech to comment on it, it was said.

Mrs. Willis Miller has returned home after visiting with her sister, Mrs. Grace Wiseman at Altamont, Illinois.

DANZIG STATE DEMANDED BY ADOLF HITLER

GERMAN-POLISH FRIENDSHIP TREATY, PACT WITH ENGLAND DENOUNCED

SAYS ATTACK ON U. S. FRAUD

Declares All Assertions Circulated Concerning Aggression Against America Untrue

BERLIN, April 28.—(UP)—Adolf Hitler demanded Danzig from Poland today and denounced the German-Polish friendship treaty and the British-German naval limitation treaty.

Declaring that Danzig was German and never would be Polish, he compared the position of Poland today, allied with Great Britain and France, to that of Czechoslovakia which he had torn asunder.

Addressing the Nazi Reichstag to answer President Roosevelt's peace appeal of April 15, Hitler took up the President's points one by one, dissected them and, in effect rejected them all.

But, he insisted, Germany did not want war, never had wanted war. It wanted only its rights. There was a fundamental clash of interest in Europe calling for "great patience."

Answering the President's request that he guarantee 31 specific nations against attack by Germany, Hitler said he would give them the assurances desired under conditions of absolute reciprocity, provided that the state concerned makes the request itself and direct to Germany "together with the appropriate proposals."

As regards allegations that Germany might some time plan aggression against the United States, Hitler said:

"I here solemnly declare that all assertions circulated in any way concerning an intended German attack or invasion on or in American territory are rank frauds and gross untruths."

Turning to Great Britain, he said: "The only demand I have made from England is restoration of colonies."

He made two direct and unequal demands on Poland whose security against attack is now guaranteed by Great Britain and France:

1—Solution of the problem of Danzig, which he wants returned to the German Reich.

2—A strategic road across the Polish Corridor to connect Germany and East Prussia.

Germany, he said, considered the new agreement between Britain and Poland an unfriendly gesture.

"Danzig must be returned to the Reich," he said. "The Polish borders must be rectified."

"The Polish government has declined my suggestions. I regret such an attitude. Like Czechoslovakia, Poland now stands under the pressure of the international war mongers. Rather than accept the generous German offer of a 25 year pact, they prefer to arm against an imagined danger."

Lashing out at "war mongers" he said:

"If conflict comes the German nation will oppose a resistance compared with which 1914 would be nothing."

The speech was one of the most momentous Hitler has made in his dramatic life. He addressed the 888 members of the Reichstag of the Greater Reich answering the appeal the President made to him and to Premier Benito Mussolini to guarantee not to attack 31 specific nations for a period of 10 years and if possible for 25 years, in return for the promise of a world conference to discuss disarmament and trade.

He complained bitterly and scornfully that people had read of the President's appeal in the newspapers and heard it over the radio before he himself had received it. For that reason, he said, he had called the

The program being in charge of the Fortnightly Club for the afternoon, the president Mrs. Ferd Lucas introduced Mrs. Fowler D. Brooks; she reviewed, in a very pleasing manner the book, "Horse and Buggy Doctor" by Arthur E. Hutzler. The author showed the advancement that has been made in medicine and surgery, and that the doctor of medicine may think one thing and feel another. It takes both thought and feeling to make his philosophy of life.

Refreshments were served from the dining room during the social hour.

Study Group Observe Pan American Day

The International Relations Study Group of the A. A. U. W. observed "Pan American Day," yesterday afternoon, with a guest tea at the Kappa Alpha Theta house. The meeting was postponed from April fourteenth which is the date officially set aside by the Pan American Union for such observances. A program on Latin American Relationships was presented by various members of the group. This presentation which reviewed the development of Latin America as a group of sister republics, was a summary of the year's study of "The Other Americas" by the group.

The panel discussion was opened by Miss Clara Sturgis who reviewed the geographic features of Latin America, and its products and industries. Mrs. Harold Zink gave a historical sketch of the development of the twenty-one Latin American republics, outlining the aboriginal civilizations, the discovery and settlement of the continent and nearby islands, the struggling colonial period, and the movement for independence. Mrs. Carl McGuire discussed transportation, explaining the development of railways, highways, water, and air transportation, and the relative importance of each. Mrs. Joe McCord presented a summary of education and cultural life, pointing out that there were four universities in South America older than Harvard university in the United States, and Mrs. E. A. Brown discussed Pan Americanism and the Pan American Union.

Mrs. David Houck concluded the panel discussions with a review of the relationships of the United States with Latin America. She discussed the "Good Neighbor" policy of the United States as it applied to Latin America; the protection of American lives and property; the economic policy of the United States in Latin America; and the Monroe Doctrine. Following this presentation, the meeting was thrown open for a general discussion, during which Mrs. W. A. Shelly, who lived for many years in South America, answered questions regarding her own experience and observations in the Latin American countries.

This was followed by a social hour and tea.

Mrs. Hiram Jome was in charge of the tea table which was presided over by Mrs. E. A. Brown. She was assisted by Mrs. J. C. Cohen and Mrs. C. G. Pierson.

AT LOCAL THEATERS
Previews and ReviewsVoncastles

When bandits' daring meets the frantic courage of a girl in love, something has to give way. And it dies, to the accompaniment of gunfire and zooming speed in the Paramount picture, "Ambush," which comes Friday and Saturday to the Voncastle Theatre.

Glamorous Gladys Swarthout occupies the leading role in this melodramatic modern story, which Lloyd Nolan as her romantic partner, and Ernest Truex, Broderick Crawford and Hartley Tufts as her dangerous opponents.

"Ambush" tells the story of a pretty stenographer trapped by desperadoes after a daring bank robbery. Forced to lend them her aid, she helps to lure a brawny truck driver to the bandit's hide-out. But in the resultant flight across the state, she and the truckman conspire to defeat the bandit's plans.

Granada

The Lone Wolf, that debonair rogue whose light-fingered knavery made him the bane of police officials throughout the world, returns to the screen in the persons of Warren William on Friday and Saturday at the Granada Theatre. Ida Lupino is co-starring with William in the new Columbia film, "The Lone Wolf Spy Hunt," which is the first of a planned series of Lone Wolf comedy-mystery dramas.

Hollywood has already hailed "The Lone Wolf Spy Hunt," not alone because it marks the return of a beloved literary and cinema figure, but because the new film is both splendid and timely entertainment.

"Inside Story," the sensational headline reporter would not write! Starring Michael Whalen, Jean Rogers and Chick Chandler, as a double feature.

Chateau

A feud between incoming homesteaders, or "nesters," and railroad men is the pivot upon which the sensational plot of "Feud of the Range," the new big-thrill Western starring Bob Steele, which comes Friday and Saturday to the Chateau Theatre, turns. The average observer might feel inclined to doubt that men were ever so ready to shoot and kill over land settlement arguments, as they do with such savage intensity in the picture. But as a matter of fact, such incidents of profuse blood-shedding were mere commonplaces in the history of the old West.

There was the Graham-Tewksbury affair, for example, the most noted feud in Arizona chronicles, better known as the Tonto Basin war. On one side was arrayed the Grahams, assisted by the men of the Hashknife cattle outfit, on the other the Tewksburys and the homesteaders.

Crew, Passengers Have Close Call

PENNSY FAST TRAIN NARROWLY
ESCAPED CRASH 17 MILES
EAST OF HERE

The breaking of a siderod on the powerful locomotive pulling the Pennsylvania's fast east bound train. The American, Thursday afternoon, brought peril to the crew and passengers of that train. The break occurred when the train was approximately a thousand feet east of Pecksburg, which is 17 miles east of Greencastle and when the train was traveling at its top speed for that section of track, some reporting the speed to have been 85 miles an hour but railroad men say 70 miles was probably the limit at that place.

The breaking of the siderod, which is a horizontal steel bar along the side of the locomotive, connecting a pair of drive wheels, resulted in the fractured ends of the rod whirling in a vertical circle with great crushing power, an accident which often causes the crushing of the cab of the locomotive and the injury or death of the engineer or fireman.

However, in this instance, the broken parts were thrust down into the ballast outside the rails of the track, and the train was brought to a stop without further damage.

The locomotive crew found wrenches in their equipment of the proper capacity to enable the men to remove the broken parts of the siderod, which disconnected the steam cylinder on that side, but the engine could be moved onto a sidetrack by the power of the cylinder on the other side of the locomotive. A substitute engine was secured and it pulled the train into Indianapolis.

There was a delay of about an hour. "The American" is the name bestowed upon both an east bound and a west bound fast passenger train, which happen to pass Greencastle at about the same minute, the east bound train being due at Limesdale each day at 1:02 and the west bound train entering the double track at Almeda on the east of Greencastle at the same time. The American makes but two stops—at Elftingham and Terre Haute—in its 240-mile run between St. Louis and Indianapolis.

4-H Club News

A large number of interested 4-H club officers from over the county assembled in the high school building at Greencastle, Thursday evening, for the principal purpose of receiving instructions in the best manner in which to perform the duties of their respective offices.

The county leader, Ralph Spencer, presided at the opening of the meeting, and asked Mrs. Robert McCullough, adult leader of Washington township, to lead the assembly in community singing, in the absence of William Padgett, who is song leader for the county. Several of the favorite songs of the young people were sung with much vim.

The assembly then separated into groups according to the offices the individuals hold in their respective clubs, each group retiring to a room assigned to it, in which to carry on their half hour of discussion of their particular work. After that period, they again assembled in the auditorium for further group activities.
